Orissa plans value added system in MMDR Act
Move Likely To Help In Economic Development Of The State

The Orissa government has mooted a proposal before the Union government to introduce a value addition system in the Mines and Minerals Development and Regulation (MMDR) Act, steel and mines minister Raghunath Mohanty on Wednesday informed the state Assembly.

"Though private iron ore mine owners cannot be asked to set up their own plants in order to have value additions, now it is felt necessary for economical development of the state," the minister said while replying to a question.

"Our government has been stressing for the introduction of a value addition system in MMDR Act for economic development of the state. The chief minister has several times requested the Centre to amend the MMDR Act and introduce a value addition system," Mr Mohanty informed.

On exports of iron ores, he said that unless the MMDR Act is amended export would not be stopped. About steps being taken up by the Odisha Mining Corporation for value addition, Mr Mohanty said the crusher plants and screening plants have been set up and the products are being supplied to many industries, including sponge iron plants, operating in the state.

The Naveen Patnaik government has clearly enunciated goals for the mining sector to propel economic growth by exploration, excavation and value addition of minerals, leveraging of mineral resources for all round development of the state and ensuring significant job creation. This also includes an increase in revenue for the government.

The state government has leased out 3,133 million tonnes of iron ore to private companies and 766 million tonnes have been given to government-run agencies. That leaves the state government with reserves of only 1,529 million tonnes.

"In fact, most of the private companies, who have taken lease in the past years, have either remained idle or have not put up value added plants. As part of the government policy of value addition as a pre-condition to the grant of mining lease, at least half of the 135 iron mining leases will not be renewed," a top official said.

BS REPORTERS
Kolkata/Bhubaneswar, 24 December

The Orissa government is upping the ante against the Union ministry of environment & forests over its decision to cork mining in the Niyamgiri hills, the site of Vedanta’s bauxite mine.

In a 30-page rebuttal (including annexure), B P Singh, special secretary to the government of Orissa’s forest & environment department, has asked the inspector-general of forests under the Union environment ministry to reconsider its decision to cancel clearance for Stage-II of the mining project.

The environment ministry had raised several issues in a 20-page letter on the cancellation of the Stage-II forest clearance. “In our letter, we have reported the factual position on the proposed mining lease area. We have also stated that if the government of India imposes additional conditions, they can be complied with,” Singh said when contacted by Business Standard.

On December 22, Orissa Steel & Mines Minister Raghunath Mohanty had said in the Orissa Assembly that there were no tribals living in the Niyamgiri reserve forest area. Singh’s letter to the inspector-general came a day after Mohanty’s statement in the Assembly.

The letter (a copy of which is with Business Standard) highlights that the matter concerning Forest Rights Act (FRA) violations had been investigated by Orissa’s ST &SC development department, the nodal agency for implementing the provisions of the FRA in the state, four months after the Centre rejected the clearance given to Orissa Mining Corporation to mine the Niyamgiri hills for Vedanta’s aluminium refinery at Lanjigarh.

Singh’s letter pointed out that the proposal by user agency IDCO to withdraw the forest diversion proposal involving 58.943 hectares of forest land, including 28.493 hectares of village forest land, for Vedanta’s alumina refinery project at Lanjigarh was accepted by the environment ministry in 2005.

The forest diversion proposal was then allowed to be withdrawn on several grounds. They include gramya jungle jogya land in the alumina refinery area being demarcated and protected at the project’s cost along with providing free access to the people belonging to neighbouring villages.

But Singh’s letter now puts a question mark on the use of land by the villagers in the wake of the environment ministry’s decision.

"IN VIEW of the observation of the MoEF regarding this, the project proponent may be asked to file forest diversion proposal in respect of this patch of forest land. In that case pending forest diversion for such forest land, the access of local villagers to the land under question will continue,” the letter said.

'Tata Steel mulls ‘alternatives’ after Rio bid for Riversdale

NEW DELHI, 24 DEC: Tata Steel, the largest shareholder in mining firm Riversdale, today said it was looking at various options for the Australian entity, which has already received an Australian $3.9-billion bid from Rio Tinto.

Asked if the options include bidding solo, a Tata Steel spokesperson said: "We are looking at various options," but did not elaborate.

International Coal Ventures Ltd (ICVL), a consortium of five Indian public-sector companies, is also exploring the possibility of bidding for Riversdale. "Tata Steel notes the takeover bid for Riversdale mining announced by Rio Tinto. Tata Steel will evaluate the takeover bid in the context of other alternatives available to it," the company said in a regulatory filing.

When contacted, Tata Steel spokesperson Mr Sanjay Choudhary said: "There are many alternatives available with Tata Steel, but at this point of time the company will not like to discuss it. It is studying the bid." Rio Tinto's offer price of Australian $16 per share — valuing the company at around Australian $3.9 billion — was recommended by all of Riversdale’s board yesterday, barring the director appointed by Tata Steel.

Mr NK Misra, Tata's nominee on Riversdale board, abstained from voting on Rio Tinto's bid.

This development sparked off speculations that Tata Steel might bid for Riversdale, which has 13 billion tons of rich coking and thermal coal reserves in its Benga and Zambéze projects in Mozambique. Price keeps gold demand in check

New Delhi, Dec 24: India’s gold prices were marginally higher on Friday, capped by a stronger rupee and demand continued to stay moderate with most buyers waiting for falls, traders said.

“Since prices are nearly stable, people expect it to break lower,” Mr Mahendra Bafna of Riddisiddhi Bullions, a large wholesaler in Mumbai said.

“Levels between ₹19,000 and ₹20,000 per 10 grams will see good demand,” international gold, which provides direction to local prices, edged higher in Europe supported by the euro’s rebound against the dollar, but a stronger rupee against the dollar subdued its rise at home. India imports most of its gold denominated in dollars.

May Tie Up With ICVL | Says It Has Shareholders’ Nod To Raise Funds

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Mumbai: A day after the Riversdale Mining board recommended Rio Tinto’s A$3.9 billion offer, Tata Steel, the largest shareholder in the Sydney-based company, said in a regulatory filing on Friday that it “will evaluate the takeover bid in the context of other alternatives available to Tata Steel”.

The world’s seventh-largest steel producer, however, didn’t elaborate on what the other alternatives were. Industry observers expect Tata Steel to make a counter bid for Riversdale Mining, in which it holds 24% stake.

Besides this, the $23 billion flagship of the Tata Group also has a 35% stake in Riversdale’s Benga mines in Mozambique with a 40% off-take agreement. Rio Tinto is offering A$16 per share of Riversdale and any counter offer from Tata Steel or any other bidder will have to be higher than the figure.

Analysts expect the battle for Riversdale Mining would intensify in the next few days and the offer price would go up to A$20. Another Indian company eyeing Riversdale is International Coal Ventures or ICVL, which has appointed Citigroup as merchant banker to advise on the deal. A section of the industry feels that Tata Steel may join hands with ICVL to make a counter bid for Riversdale. ICVL, however, denied this and said a decision would be taken after Citigroup submits its report. Citi is expected to submit the report within two weeks.

Both Tata Steel and ICVL have one month to come up with a game plan, as Riversdale shareholders are slated to meet to discuss the Rio Tinto offer after 30 days. ICVL, which is a consortium of five state-owned entities—NTPC, SAIL, NMDC, Rashtriya Ispat Nigam and Coal India—has been set up to acquire natural resources overseas.

However, it hasn’t struck any deal since it became operational in May 2009. In a separate regulatory filing, Tata Steel said it has received shareholders’ approval to raise additional long-term funds.

In November, the company said it plans to raise $1.6 billion, however, it is yet to finalize the financial instrument it wants to use to raise the money. Some analysts think that Tata Steel should monetize its investment in Riversdale, thereby deleveraging its already stretched balance sheet.

International media reports suggest that other potential bidders for Riversdale are Xstrata, Vale and CSN. Brazil’s CSN, which once fought a tooth-and-nail battle with Tata Steel for Corus, holds 16% in Riversdale.
Naveen meets Pranab, discusses mining Bill

ORSAA chief minister Naveen Patnaik on Friday met Union finance minister Pranab Mukherjee and discussed about the mining Bill.

Patnaik demanded that amendments to the Act must encourage value addition to minerals in the state. He also said the mines should be offered through competitive bidding so that the mineral-bearing states get benefited.

“I have suggested that the value addition to minerals in the state be encouraged and also allotment of mines through auction route,” Patnaik said. “The financial minister has assured that he would look into the suggestions and take appropriate steps when the final draft of the Bill would be prepared,” the chief minister said.

The Centre is going to introduce a Bill seeking amendments to the Mines and Minerals Development & Regulation (MMDR) Act 1957. A Group of Ministers (GoM) headed by finance minister Pranab Mukherjee is now consulting with various stakeholders of the mining sector of the country for finalisation of the draft Bill.
‘Ready for debate with Montek’

NEW DELHI: Defending his policy of not allowing mining in forest areas, Environment Minister Jairam Ramesh Friday said he was ready to have a debate with Planning Commission Deputy Chairman Montek Singh Ahluwalia who has criticised it.

“I am willing to sit down and hold discussion whether we need a more liberal definition of what a no-go is. I have an open mind at every step,” Ramesh told NDTV when asked about Ahluwalia’s disagreement with him on no-go areas in the forests where mining is prohibited. I have an open mind at every step.”

In a veiled criticism of Ramesh’s approach, Ahluwalia had on Wednesday said: “If we get a sensible definition of what is ‘no-go’… something that is called ‘no-go’ for now does not have to be ‘no-go’ for ever.”

Ramesh said: “This is not Azadpur mandi in which we are discussing go or no-go. There are certain criteria we have adopted.”

Orissa requests Centre to reconsider Niyamgiri plan

BHUBANESWAR/NEW DELHI: Smarting under the Centre’s denial to $1.7-billion Niyamgiri mining project on alleged violations of forest and environment laws, the Orissa government on Friday sought its reconsideration saying the proposal was compliant with the stipulated norms. Asserting that no forest and environmental law has been broken, the Orissa government has written a letter to the Centre seeking that “the Ministry of Environment and Forests may reconsider the matter in proper perspective and communicate its decision stage II (final) clearance at an early date”. “No scheduled tribe person lives in the Niyamgiri reserve forest area spread over 2,100 hectares of hilly land,” the letter said highlighting how 68 million tonnes of bauxite remained unused atop Niyamgiri hills in Kalahandi district. The state government also gave full assurance to the environment ministry that mining activities could start at Niyamgiri without hurting ecology of the area.
Copper holds below record level

Reuters
London, Dec 24
Copper rose but held below record highs on Friday, underpinned by expectations of restocking next year by top consumer China, paring gains as the looming Christmas break kept trading volumes in check.

Benchmark copper on the London Metal Exchange traded at $9,331 a tonne in the rings, up from the $9,300 close on Thursday.

Stainless steel material nickel was untraded, but quoted at $23,850/23,875, having climbed from $23,600 finish, while battery sector lead at $2,440 was nearly unchanged from $2,449 and zinc, used in galvanising at $2,288 slipped from $2,298.

Tin, the other metal pegged at a top performer for 2011, amid tight supply from top exporter Indonesia, was untraded but quoted at $26,825/26,850, down from $26,875, but still within $1,000 of record highs of $27,500.
Gold glitters on euro recovery

Reuters
London, Dec 24

Gold prices edged higher in Europe on Friday, supported by the euro's recovery from a three-week low versus the dollar, and as a further ratings downgrade stoked concerns over euro zone debt.

Fitch Ratings downgraded Portugal's long-term and local currency ratings by one notch to A-plus late on Thursday, with a negative outlook.

Spot gold was bid at $1,384.25 an ounce at 1430 GMT, against $1,379.89 late in New York on Thursday.

Among other precious metals, silver was bid at $29.21 an ounce against $29.31.

Platinum was at $1,712 an ounce against $1,716.50, while palladium was at $749.50 against $750.49.

On the investment side of the gold market, the world's largest gold-backed exchange-traded fund, the SPDR Gold Trust, said its holdings slipped to 1,284.973 tonnes on Thursday.

Its holdings have declined by nearly 14 tonnes so far this week, and are on track for their biggest one-week loss since late July.

The world's biggest primary silver producer, Mexico's Fresnillo, said it has no plans to start hedging against silver price changes as shareholders say they prefer exposure to market prices.

Trading is thin as the markets wind down for the Christmas holidays, which begin on Friday afternoon in Europe. Little activity is expected ahead of the break, which lasts until Dec. 29 in many countries.

BASELINE

"Whilst I think we might see gold between now and January, it looks like $20, I think that is going to prove to be the baseline," said ANZ Bank analyst Mr Peter Hillyard. "I think as the market resumes in a proper way in the first week of January, we will see it track-ing back through $1,400."

"There are very real fears that the problems of the euro zone generally are not going to be suddenly swept away," he added. "All of these are things that make people believe that holding a tangible asset is still the right thing to do."

The euro steadied on Friday, recovering after hitting its lowest in three weeks versus the dollar, but the currency was still on track for a third consecutive weekly loss.

Gold typically comes under pressure from a softer euro and consequently stronger dollar, but its usual close inverse relationship with the US currency has weakened this year as both assets have benefited from the euro zone debt crisis.

BULLION RATES
Mumbai: Silver (.999 fineness) Rs 45,390 a kg; standard gold (99.5% purity) Rs 20,360 for 10 g; pure gold (99.9% purity) Rs 20,460 for 10 g.
Naveen meets Pranab, discusses mining Bill

Bhubaneswar, Dec 24:
Orissa chief minister Naveen Patnaik on Friday met Union finance minister Pranab Mukherjee and discussed about the mining Bill.

Patnaik demanded that amendments to the Act must encourage value addition to minerals in the state. He also said the mines should be offered through competitive bidding so that the mineral-bearing states get benefited.

"I have suggested that the value addition to minerals in the state be encouraged and also allotment of mines through auction route," Patnaik said. "The finance minister has assured that he would look into the suggestions and take appropriate steps when the final draft of the Bill would be prepared," the chief minister said.

A Group of Minister (GoM) headed by finance minister Pranab Mukherjee is now consulting with various stakeholders of the mining sector of the country for finalisation of the draft Bill.

Patnaik said that the value addition to the minerals in the state would bring prosperity to the backward Scheduled Areas, which are the mineral bearing areas. Moreover, it will generate more revenue for the mineral bearing states.

Emphasising on allotment of mines through competitive biddings, the chief minister said that mineral reserves must be prospected so that the value would be reflected in the financial bids.

The CM also urged the union finance minister that mines should be reserved for the state-owned PUS for the greater interest of the people. Patnaik also met the union minister for mines, BK Handique, and discussed about the mining Bill.
CEC to OMC: Make submission by Dec 29
Committee unhappy on mining company for not producing details on illegal mining

BANGALORE: The Central Empowered Committee of the Supreme Court has directed the controversial Obulapuram Mining Corporation (OMC) owned by Tourism Minister G Janardhana Reddy to produce a written submission stating its position on illegal mining in the Bellary forest area.

At a meeting in Anantapur on Thursday, CEC Member Secretary M K Jiwrajka expressed his displeasure with OMC for not producing a written submission, and warned that it would have to go ahead with the investigation based solely on available records.

When the OMC senior counsel requested another opportunity for a hearing, the CEC replied that the hearing would be held on December 29.

Three other firms
OMC along with the other three firms – Bellary Iron Ore Pvt Ltd, Mahabaleswarappa & Sons, and Ananthapur Mining Corporation – have also been asked to give in their written submissions before December 27.

The meeting also saw Sunday Parivartan Samaj, a Dharward-based NGO, which filed a Public-Interest Litigation in the Supreme Court, make a detailed presentation of its findings related to illegal mining in Bellary forest. Samaj founder S R Hiremath told Deccan Herald that “We made a presentation to the CEC describing how 10 acres of unallotted forest land have been encroached by the mining firms. We also highlighted the issue of illegal use of heavy earth machinery by mining firms. For instance, OMC has in one mine extracted nearly 29.32 lakh metric tonnes of iron ore, which is not possible without the illegal deployment of heavy earth machinery.”

Supreme Court directive
The three-member CEC team has been in Anantapur since Wednesday following a Supreme Court directive last month to investigate whether mining is going on in the forest area in the Bellary region near the six mining leases.

While the team held a meeting with officials on Wednesday, it conducted a day-long inspection of 6 mines on Thursday.

The CEC is looking into 15 issues which include renewal of Obulapuram’s mining lease, the encroachment of land by the six mines in Bellary forest area, change in lease sketches of Bellary Iron Ore Pvt Ltd, construction of illegal roads, location of boundary pillars demarcating Andhra-Karnataka border, and illegal deployment of heavy earth machinery.

The team has returned to New Delhi on Thursday evening, and will next hold a hearing in New Delhi on December 29.

SC-mandated team inspects mines leased by Reddy firms

Visit follows court order; report to be submitted before Jan 2011

BELLARY/BANGALORE: A three-member Central Empowered Committee (CEC) mandated by the Supreme Court visited iron ore mines leased out to Obulapuram Mining Company (OMC), owned by Tourism Minister Janardhana Reddy, to investigate into the allegations of illegal mining.

The Committee, headed by member-secretary M.K. Aryan, has asked OMC to produce the approved mining sketches to check alleged encroachment on mines located in Karnataka.

The visit follows a Supreme Court order issued last month based on a PIL filed by Sanjay Parihar and others. The CEC was asked to find whether mining was still on in the forest area in Bellary region.

The team inspected the sites belonging to Reddy's OMC, the Bellary Iron Ore Limited and J M & Sons, and held discussions with officials of the Survey of India and the Departments of Forest, Mines and Geology and Revenue, officials said.

Mahendra Vyas and A D N Rao are the other members of the team, which is likely to continue the inspection on Thursday.

The CEC has also asked OMC to give a written submission before December 27. On a request by the OMC lawyer that a hearing be held following the submission, the CEC declined to give an assurance.

OMC has been in the thick of a controversy over alleged illegal mining in the land owned by another company, since January 13, 2007. Obulapuram is located on the Karnataka-Andhra Pradesh border.

Following a hearing before the CEC on December 15, the Committee identified 15 issues to investigate. These include renewal of OMC mining lease, encroachment of the six mines on the Bellary forest area, change in lease sketches of Bellary Iron Ore Pvt Ltd, construction of illegal roads, location of boundary pillars demarcating Andhra-Karnataka border, and illegal deployment of heavy earthmoving machinery.

The Committee also sought details of boundary markings and roads of OMC, and examined the rock quarry and mineral transport activity. The CEC is likely to review the report before January 7 next year.

With respect to Obulapuram, the CEC will look into irregularities related to the renewal of mining leases, encroachment on Bellary forest mining area, and deployment of heavy earthmoving machinery, conducting deep hole drilling, and blasting.

The CEC team arrived in Amantapur on Tuesday, and held a meeting with government officials and the parties involved in the case.
